PLACE SENATOR ON THE DEFENSIVE

Committee Says Stephenson Must Prove Innocence.

HEYBURN EXPLAINS NEW RULING

Idaho Senator Says That In Cases Where So Much Money Is Spent to Secure Election, and Expenditure Is Admitted, Failure of Manager to Remember to Whom It Was Paid Implies That Fund Was Used For Illegal Purposes.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 6.—In the case of Senator Stephenson the old rule of innocent until proven guilty has been reversed and the senator now stands guilty until proven innocent. That is the result of deliberations of the senatorial investigating committee, following the day's proceedings, when it was decided by the senators that the use of so much money, unless explained satisfactorily, was prima facie evidence of guilt.

This is the net result of the day's examination of Edmonds, the Stephenson campaign manager, and his inability to tell anything of the manner in which the Stephenson campaign fortune was used. Late in the day the examination included a review of the specific charges against Stephenson, and Edmonds denied every charge, except that money was used in sums of from $5 to $1,000. Every charge of improper use of money was denied.

Heyburn Made Explanation.

In making the new ruling Senator Heyburn said to Edmonds:

"Now, if you were the custodian of Senator Stephenson's funds and had charge of their disbursement, it seems you were the person who was responsible under the law for keeping an account. You are supposed to know not only that certain sums were paid to certain individuals, but also you should know just what those individuals did with the money. The rule is that where charges are officially made and no record can be given of funds admittedly spent, the presumption is that they were wrongfully used and the burden of proof is on the person against whom the charges were preferred."

GETS OVATION OF HIS LIFE AT SALT LAKE

President Talks Peace In Mormon Tabernacle.

ORIGINAL MORMONS PRESENT

Majority of Audience That Packed Vast Edifice Crossed Plains In 1846-7 With Prophet Brigham Young—Crowd Aisles and Strain Ears to Catch Every Word of Address—Senator Smoot Lines Up With Taft on Arbitration Treaties.

Salt Lake, Utah, Oct. 6.—President Taft received more cheers of welcome at the Mormon tabernacle here than he has ever heard from an audience during his occupancy of the White House. It was "old folks" reunion week in the state of Utah and they made Mr. Taft the central feature of interest for the old folks. A hundred of them met him at the New Mormon hotel, where he breakfasted, and when breakfast was over he was taken to the tabernacle. The tabernacle seats 12,000 people. It was filled to top of the galleries when the president entered.

Bishop Nibley of the Mormon church introduced the president, and to give Mr. Taft an idea of the age of his audience he asked all of those present who had crossed the prairie in the Mormon migration of 1846-7 to rise. The greater portion of the congregation rose in a body. They were pioneers who had come over the prairie into Utah before the days of railroads; they had crossed in wagons and on foot under the leadership of Brigham Young, their prophet, 15 years before the civil war.

Is Unique Festivity.

Old folks' week is an unique Mormon festivity. Every year all of the old folks of the state are invited as the guests of the younger people to come to Salt Lake City for a holiday week. Everything is done for them. It is the tribute of the present generation to those who braved the hardships of pioneering to establish for them a home for their church. The invitation is issued, however, to

Big Race Of Balloons Starts In Wind

Nine Entrants Leave Kansas City In Northerly Direction.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 6.—Before a favorable 20-mile wind from the south and southeast, eight racing balloons sailed away from here in contest for the James Gordon Bennett trophy and the Lahm cup.

Six of the air craft, three representing the United States, two Germany and one France, are entered in the Bennett race, an annual international event. The three American balloons in this contest and the two other American balloons are after the Lahm cup. A ninth balloon, which acted as pilot in the international race, is attempting to break the altitude record.

With the exception of the last two bags to sail, the Kansas City II and the Topeka II, all of the balloons flew almost due north. The Kansas City and Topeka entrants were caught up by a wind from the southeast and carried northwest.

The entrants are: The Condor, French, pilot Emil Dubinnet; the America II, pilot William F. Assman; the Berlin I, pilot Lieutenant Leopold Vogt; Million Population Club, pilot John Berry; the Buckeye, Lieutenant F. P. Lahm pilot; Berlin II, pilot Lieutenant Heins Geriche. The entrants for the Lahm cup are the Kansas City II, pilot Captain H. E. Moneywell; Topeka II, pilot Frank M. Jacobs.

Veterans Assaulted

Deaths of Two Inmates of Sandusky Home Investigated.

Sandusky, O., Oct. 6.—Authorities at the state soldiers' home here are demanding an investigation by the police of recent assaults committed in the city on aged inmates of the home. It is alleged that within the last four days two veterans, Russell Marquard, 70, admitted from Columbus, and John Mueller, 69, admitted from Cincinnati, died at the home hospital from some injuries received in assaults on them.

Italians and Turks Apparently Fighting With Rumors.

INVADERS LAND SMALL FLEET

Haul Up Flag Over Small Fortress, but Make No Effort to Occupy City of Tripoli—Have Numerous Skirmishes With Arabs—Exchange Shots With Turkish Forts at Benghazi, but Little Damage Is Done on Either Side.

London, Oct. 6.—The latest news received by the Chronicle from Constantinople is to the effect that Italian warships are bombarding Benghazi and Derna and that the former is vigorously returning the fire.

The Italian flag floats over Sultana fort at Tripoli, which is occupied by landing parties. Part of the fleet is anchored in the harbor and the other warships lie a short distance from the dismantled fortifications. Few bodies of Turks have been found among the ruins of the forts, and apparently no great number of Turks were killed by the bombardment.

Various rumors concerning a naval engagement in Turkish waters, an attack against Mytilene and the blowing up of an Italian battleship, Conte di Cavour, at Tripoli, have not been confirmed from any quarter.

An interesting report is current from Constantinople, that while Germany favors the adoption of the Italian ultimatum as the basis of peace negotiations, Great Britain proposes that Tripoli shall become a privileged vilayet, under joint Turco-Italian administration, thus retaining the suzerainty of the sultan.

Land on African Coast.

Malta, Oct. 6.—Fugitives from Tripoli who arrived here say small parties of Italians are landing all along the coast from Tripoli to Benghazi. It is believed, however, that there will be no landing in force until the main expedition arrives. Small bodies of Arabs skirmished with the landing parties.

Completion of Ashokan Dam to Give New York City More Water

Photos copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

NEW YORK city is soon to have a new system of waterworks. Work started several years ago, and the hope is held out that the gigantic task will be completed early in 1913. The entire operation is the most extensive ever attempted with the exception of the Panama canal. An army of 15,000 men is working on the job today, and the total cost will be more than $160,000,000. The huge Ashokan dam that will form a reservoir with an area of twelve square miles is to cost $12,670,000. The dam is something more than 600 feet high, and its main portion is more than 1,000 feet long. It is 50 per cent bigger than the world famous Gatun dam on the Panama canal. In the picture above the lower portion shows a general view of the huge dam with the opening left for Esopus creek to flow through until it is time to begin filling the reservoir. The upper photograph shows two of the huge valves that will be used to regulate the flow of water.

Suggests That Markham Arbitrate With Shopmen.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 6.—Governor E. F. Noel sent a telegram to President Markham and Vice President Park of the Illinois Central railroad, suggesting arbitration as a means of settling the differences with its shop and office employees.

Strikers Are Orderly.

McComb City, Miss., Oct. 6.—With the tightening of lines, both military and union, the struggle here between the Illinois Central Railroad company and the strikers settled down to one of endurance. Three hundred and fifty state troops, reinforced by a machine gun, patrolled the property of the railroad. Lines of sentries prevent an entrance to the shops, except to those with passes, issued only by military authority. Strikers are orderly, and since the outbreak of Tuesday nothing has occurred to mar the peace.

New Orleans, Oct. 6.—The first Harriman lines strike violence here occurred when strikebreakers imported here to work in the Algiers shops of the Southern Pacific railroad were attacked by a mob of 500 strikers and their sympathizers and several of them badly beaten.

Telephone Companies Admit That Competition Is Dead.

Columbus, O., Oct. 6.—At a hearing before the public utilities commission it was brought out that the Bell Long Distance Telephone company and the United States Long Distance company are no longer keenly competing for business in the Buckeye state. The Mt. Sterling Telephone company and the Bell long distance asked the commission for permission to connect their lines.

R. H. Schryver, secretary of the Mt. Sterling company, in his testimony stated that his concern was under a 99-year contract with the United States Long Distance company by which the latter company was to have an exclusive right to all long distance business through the Mt. Sterling company's exchange, but that the United States company had agreed to permit the Bell company to come in as a long distance competitor.

The same condition was shown to exist in Van Wert, where the Bell is seeking admission to territory heretofore controlled by the United States long distance.

IT'S a PLEASURE TO US TO SELL the kind of clothes we have here; not merely because we make money by it---

There Are Other Pleasures in This World Besides Making Money!

We find a good deal of satisfaction and enjoyment in providing our friends with the kind of garments we have. We like to see men walking around town looking well dressed, prosperous, up to date; and know that we helped to do it.

There's no way of estimating the value of the service such a store as this renders to the community; we all agree that good clothes increase a man's effectiveness; and the consciousness of being well-dressed is always a help to any of us in doing our work.

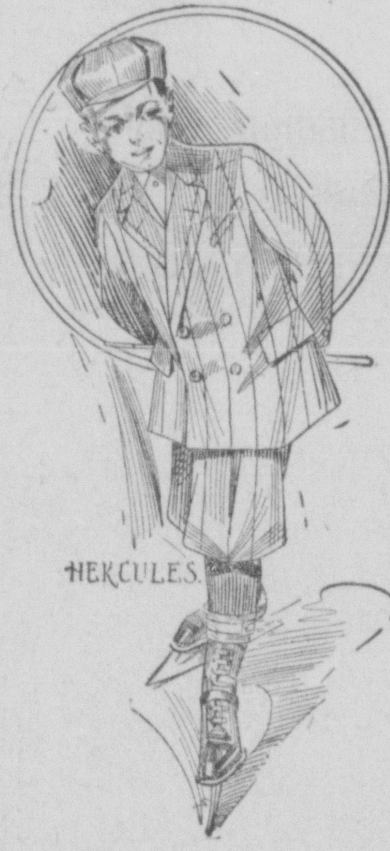

Boys' Clothes Too, of the Sort That Are Made To Resist Wear!

Built to stand the knocks and cuffs which the average healthy youngster gives them.

Made of the best materials in the best way possible to give service and satisfaction—If that boy of yours is hard on his clothes; don't argue the case with him; let us put a suit on him that will hold him.

Youthful Pair Elopers Caught

Bloomington was treated to a real elopement of a sensational character Thursday, when Fannie Byrd, 13-year-old daughter of R. M. Byrd, colored, and Meredith Haithcock, aged 18, also colored, eluded the girl's parents and made their getaway for a genuine Kentucky elopement, leaving Bloomington on the 8:10 morning train for Cincinnati.

Their elopement was discovered soon after the train left, and the father of the youthful prospective bride hastily telephoned to this city for the police to apprehend the pair and hold them until the marshal could be sent after them. His word came too late to catch the pair, so a long distance call was put in for Cincinnati, and the authorities given orders to arrest the pair.

Upon reaching Cincinnati they gave the police the dodge and were on the point of obtaining the necessary papers in Kentucky when they were placed under arrest and sent back to this city, arriving here on the train Thursday night, where they were met and escorted to Bloomington.

The girl was released, but the prospective groom was locked up under a charge of enticing a minor away from home. His trial will take place Friday afternoon.

The affair has caused much interest owing to the extreme youthfulness of the prospective bride and also the bridegroom.

Meat Wagon Splintered In Runaway

Mr. Tom Kinney, the Sunnyside butcher, had his delivery wagon broken to pieces Friday morning when his horse became frightened and ran away.

The horse had just been hitched to the wagon and tied in the alley, backed in an under shed, to be loaded for the deliveries. The horse had seemed gentle and it is not known whether a passing auto or some thing else frightened it, but it suddenly broke loose and tore down the alley smashing into a big telephone pole. The wagon was splintered but the horse uninjured and the harness not damaged.

Luckily the meat was in a box and unhurt. Mr. Kinney loaded his meat and poultry in a spring wagon and started on his rounds as if nothing had happened.

STRIKE BREAKERS ARE KILLED.

Special to Herald.

New Orleans, La., October 6.—Four strikebreakers in Southern Pacific strike were killed in a battle with strikers at Gretna near here. Strikebreakers were on train when attacked.

A GOOD ONE.

An amusing incident occurred during the session of council Thursday night, which has caused many a hearty laugh among those who are "next".

When the ordinance to obtain the necessary funds for finishing the Market street sewer was almost ready to be voted on, members of the Y. M. C. A. committee were informed that one member of council would probably vote against the ordinance, and it would require Councilman Goodwin to save the day, Mr. Goodwin being absent.

It was taken for granted that Councilman Goodwin favored passing the ordinance, so Mr. Henry Brownell agreed to go after the missing councilman. Hurrying below he jumped into his automobile and made a flying trip to the Goodwin grocery on South Sycamore street, induced Mr. Goodwin to accompany him, and hurried back with his man and was soon in the council chamber once more.

When the question of passing the ordinance had been argued and a vote was taken, Mr. Brownell and other members of the Board were dumbfounded when Mr. Goodwin was the only member who voted "No".

Pennsy Wants It

A report from Lima regarding the sale of the D. T. & I. railroad, says:

An unconfirmed rumor is in circulation here to the effect that the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton railroad will be purchased by the Pennsylvania system when the bankrupt railroad is sold by a Michigan court on January 9.

Local Pennsylvania officials declare that they have heard the report, but say that they believe it more probable that the D. T. & I. will be bought by the Vandalia railroad, a subsidiary of the Pennsylvania as the three men now in charge of the D. T. & I. are officers in the management of the Vandalia.

Within the past week a heavy interchange of freight between the Pennsylvania and D. T. & I. has been made.

They left Friday morning for Cincinnati.

NISELY—TODHUNTER.

A pretty little wedding took place yesterday at noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Todhunter, near New Martinsburg, when their only daughter, Elsa, plighted her troth to Mr. Ralph Nisley, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Nisley, of near Selden.

As the clock struck the hour of twelve the bride and groom marched slowly down the stairs to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Harley Todhunter, of Columbus. The single ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Ricketts in the presence of the two immediate families. The bride looked extremely pretty, gowned in pure white, carrying a bouquet of white chrysanthemums.

After the ceremony, the bride and groom led the way to the dining room where an elaborate three-course luncheon was served. An atmosphere of home-like simplicity was prevalent throughout the entire ceremony.

The young couple left on the 3:40 train west for a brief wedding trip. The bride and groom are both popular young people and have the best wishes of a large circle of friends.

BARN MASQUERADE.

The big barn at the Riley home—stead on the Bogus road was the scene of a merry revel Thursday night, when the young son, Owen Riley entertained forty girls and boys with a masquerade party.

The barn is lighted with electric lights and made a splendid roomy place for the fun.

All the guests came in comical costumes, great rivalry having produced an array of unique and grotesque "get ups" that entertained the guests all evening.

Miss Hattie Pinkerton, a typical gypsy fortune teller, added much to the evening's fun and there was a guessing contest in which Miss Minnie Mayo won first prize and Mrs. Frank Woods second.

Also assisting the young host were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Riley, Miss Luelia Riley, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Frank DeWitt and Miss Nina Mayo.

Delicious refreshments were served and fruit punch on tap all evening.

Mr. Frank Kearney, while turning his horse and wagon in the lot to the rear of the Kearney block on East Court street had the misfortune to strike one of the large plate glass windows with a ladder, which protruded from the end of the wagon.

MEAN MEN.

That there are many rough places in almost every walk of life to be crossed in the forward movement of which every human worth while is a part, none will deny.

That these rough places can be crossed with much more ease, with much more satisfaction to the man whose duty it is to go ahead regardless of obstacles and with much less heartaches to the man who has fallen by the wayside, if courtesy is used is equally true.

There are men in this world, fortunately they are few in number, who never seem to regard the feelings of others and are, apparently, happiest when they are making their authority as brutal as possible. These men seem to delight in overriding all forms of decency and courtesy and while literally correct in their position and, in most instances, scrupulously and exactly honest, have not the slightest objection to wounding the feelings of others. They seem rather to seek the opportunity to hurt others or to ignore others when ever possible to do so, and take a devilish delight in rubbing it in on others who are below them in authority or in intellectual power.

Such men are built over the same lines as the bully who boasts of his physical power and overrides, by sheer physical strength, weaker men.

The mental bully is no different from that other type, but is not generally catalogued as the same.

Cordially hated by all with whom they come in contact, whether superiors or inferiors, these are the men we often hear described as being all right except that their manners are not pleasing.

That is not all—that universal expression of displeasure does not tell the whole story.

Rough, uncouth manners, a bull-doing way of doing things invariably denotes a mean streak in the man who habitually wounds other people. It is not merely a lack of "manners" but underlying the instinct of the cowardly bully which offends.

The world may give credit to such men for the good instincts they possess, but it will never like them—they may be endured on account of usefulness along certain lines, but they will be cordially despised and justly so for the downright mean traits of character which overshadow all else and find expression in that conduct which, for want of better name, the world has designated as "bad manners".

There is no good reason why an unpleasant duty may not be discharged civilly, indeed there is every reason why it should be. To do otherwise simply makes bad matters worse, and that is always the unfailing sign of ill-breeding and a vulgar mind.

Work Alone

Some Girls
Take Much Interest in Labor

By JULIA REED

IT MAY SEEM somewhat paradoxical to say that a girl may take too much interest in her work, but it is nevertheless true.

Of course, there is the class of girl (and she might be called almost typical she is so numerous) who is merely poised, so to speak, on her position temporarily, waiting until she shall flutter away to a husband and a home, but there is also the girl who becomes so wrapped up in her work that only on the rarest occasion can she take a peep beyond the narrow horizon that bounds it.

She works early and late until she is practically a nervous wreck, and is imposed upon quite as a matter of course.

Of course, it is a truism that she who wishes to succeed must put her whole heart into her work. This is self-evident.

But there is a sane and safe level between neglecting one's work and living for that and nothing else.

The good worker should also be the good player, and above all she should learn to drop her work when she leaves the office or schoolroom or workshop, and learn to take an interest in something outside her own little base of operations.

People quickly get the habit of avoiding as if she were a pestilence the girl who is constantly quoting the "boss" or bragging of the quantity or quality of the work she does.

The amusing things that happen at the office are legitimate subjects for conversation, and will be welcomed when recounted at home or at the boarding house, but the purely business details contain as a rule not the least glimmering of interest for the outsider.

This kind of girl becomes rather a nuisance to the "boss" himself in time, for she is always ready to take offense at anything which she considers a slight.

Many girls undergo real suffering by having certain work they were in the habit of doing given to some one else, when it should have been regarded as a relief and a kindness done to them.

The girls who can think of nothing but clothes, and who will suddenly break into any conversation with some irrelevant remark as to tucks or gathers or box plaits, and demand that you shall give your opinion regarding the same, is pretty bad, worse, perhaps, than the girl who thinks too much of her work, but the latter is nevertheless bad enough.

POETRY FOR TODAY

EVERY SUNDAY MORNING.

'Tis every Sunday mornin'
O! tumble out ov bed,
The hat that was me father's
Sits jauntily on me head,
An' o'er the hills ov heather
An' down where waters croon.
O! wake the lazy songsters
Wid me little bit ov tune.

'Tis every Sunday mornin'
She's waiting be the stoile
An' all our friendly neighbors
Jis nod their heads an' smile.
Ah, sure, we know their meanin',
'Tis plain as if 'twere sung,
They're livin' in their old hearts
Those days whin they were young.

'Tis every Sunday mornin'
We hurry off to mass,
An' oh, the wayside roses,
Are whisp'rin' whin we pass.
For 'tis no hidden secret,
They know as well as we,
Some foine, bright Sunday mornin'
She'll be walkin' home wid me.

SPIRIT OF YOUTH EASILY RESTORED

New Discovery Gives People Sure Means of Overcoming that Tired Feeling.

There is no excuse for being all "run down." If you feel tired most of the time with a poor appetite and bad digestion, you are debilitated and nature needs some assistance in throwing off this condition.

"Tona Vita" the modern tonic, is a sure means of overcoming this trouble. Many thousands of half sick, listless, nervous men and women, who lacked vitality and energy, have actually been made over by this splendid medicine.

"Tona Vita" was only recently introduced in this country, yet the sale of it is now tremendous and still growing. It is certain no medicine could be so successful unless it was accomplishing remarkable results. "Tona Vita" is accomplishing remarkable results. It overcomes nervous debility, in a few weeks' time, and brings back the old energetic spirit that is lacking.

It brings restful sleep, good digestion, more vitality and drives away the listless, despondent feeling so quickly that it will positively astonish you. Don't drag around half sick any longer.

There is an agent in every city, who will return the purchase price to you if the tonic fails to completely build you up.

Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is the assistant remedy to be used with Tona Vita in cases of chronic constipation. This medicine contains the splendid medicinal virtues of rhubarb, the finest of all natural laxatives. Harsh drugs strain the intestines while rhubarb, equally effective, has a tonic effect on the entire bowel tract. Lee's Rhubarb Laxative is an ideal family medicine and should be used in preference to any other laxative for children. The taste is very pleasant.

Tona Vita and Lee's Rhubarb Laxative are sold in Washington C. H. by Brown's Drug Store.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED.

Baldness is too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age.

A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over 35 years of age as new employees.

Probably 65 per cent of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no change for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer back of our statements no one should scoff, doubt our word, or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test.

We want every one in Rochester who is suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair, or baldness to try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottle have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected, and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here in Washington C. H., and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer unless we were positively certain that we could substantiate it in every particular. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. Blackmer & Tanquary.

every old person in the state irrespective of creed. Seventy years is the minimum age for an old person in Utah, but the number of old persons who rose in the tabernacle to the call of the pioneers of 1846 showed that the maximum was more common than the minimum in their age.

The president spoke to them on peace. He likened his address with a Bob Taylor story. In discussing the two sides of the question of the policy of submitting international disputes to arbitration, he admitted that it was practically a question which could not be argued because a man's opinion depended so entirely upon his point of view. He said that he had broached that point with the senator from Tennessee at one time. Mr. Taylor had told of a mountaineer acquaintance of his who had a clock that was always wrong. He asked the man how on earth such a clock could help him, and the old fellow replied that he was more sure of it than any clock he had ever seen because he knew that when its hands pointed to 6 o'clock, and it struck four, it was always precisely 20 minutes to 2.

Dwells on Burdens of War.

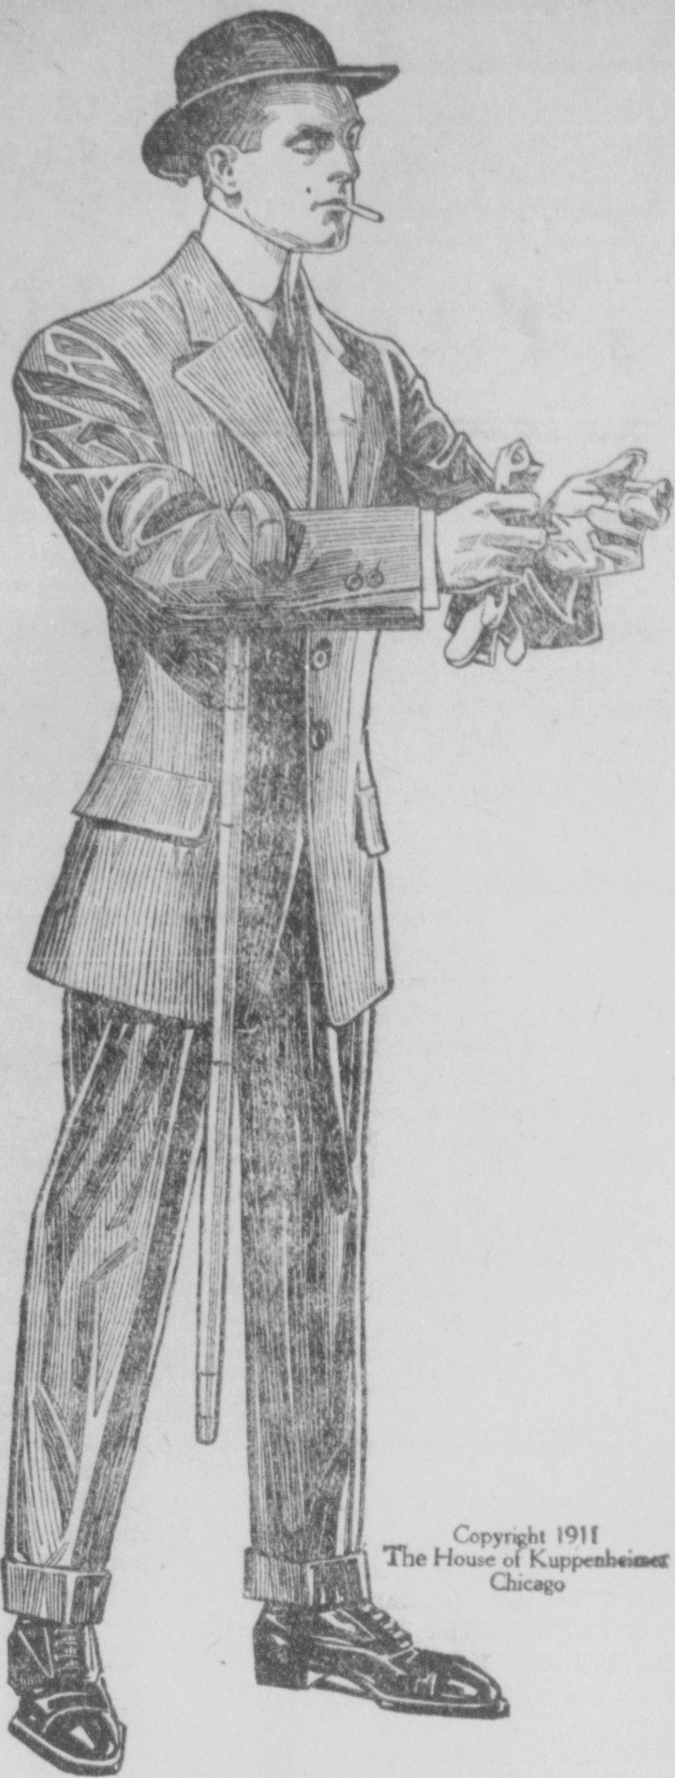

The president dwelt on the burden to the poor and the peaceful which war and the preparation for war brings, and the old people cheered him loudly.

They were a curious audience. Many of them left their seats and came down the aisles to hear him the better. Many of them sat with hands cupped about their ears, to aid their failing hearing. The women were remarkably passive, bent, old women, sitting with their hands crossed on their laps.

Senator Smoot of Utah, who sat next to the president on the high tabernacle pulpit, told Mr. Taft after the speech that he would support the arbitration treaties in the amended form to which the president has given his consent; that is, that the senate shall be given the power of confirmation over the appointments to the joint high commission.

In the afternoon the president addressed a large outdoor audience at the Utah state fair. Here the only politics of the occasion were heard. The president was assured that Utah would be for him solidly in the convention and at the election.

The movement to make Charles D. Hilles, secretary to President Taft, chairman of the national Republican committee for the campaign of 1912, formally was launched here at the banquet tendered to President Taft by the Commercial club of Salt Lake City.

OHIO HAPPENINGS

Bondsmen Will Lose Fortune.
Lima, O., Oct. 6.—Though deputy sheriffs have searched throughout the county and Sheriff Watt has wired all European shipping bureaus, Christian Geiger, aged brewer under sentence to the penitentiary, is as mysteriously missing as he has been since Tuesday, when the supreme court shattered his last hope of freedom. Phil Klaus, aged friend of Geiger, who is on his bond for $20,000, is almost crazed, as it means the sweeping away of the savings of a lifetime.

Execution Again Postponed.
Columbus, O., Oct. 6.—Governor Harmon has reprieved until Oct. 27 Charles Justice, the Greene county murderer, whose electrocution was to have taken place last night. Father Kelly, Catholic chaplain at the pen, made a special plea to Governor Harmon. Justice's attorney claims to have unearthed some additional evidence which he wishes to present to the governor. Justice has been reprieved five times, three times on the eve of execution.

Excise Taxes Heavy.
Columbus, O., Oct. 6.—State revenues for 1911 in excise taxes from public utility concerns, not including steam, interurban or street railways, express, telegraph and telephone companies, will reach more than a half million dollars, according to figures certified to the state auditor by the state tax commission. Gas companies, especially, show large increases in gross earnings.

Woman Killed by Car.
Zanesville, O., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Richard Severn of Alexandria was struck by a traction car on the Ohio Electric line at Hanover, about 15 miles west of here, and instantly killed. Mrs. Severn had been walking along the track admiring the beautiful woods on the opposite side of a ravine near the track and did not hear the car approaching. Her body was horribly mangled.

Pen Guard Quits Job.
Columbus, O., Oct. 6.—H. C. Alexander, a penitentiary guard from Meigs county, has resigned his job, giving as one of his reasons that discipline has become so lax in the institution that the lives of the guards are constantly in danger.

Prisoner Missing From Pen.
Columbus, O., Oct. 6.—William Brennan, alias H. F. Brooks, alias Harry Austin, serving a six-year sentence from Cuyahoga county for assault with intent to rob, is missing. He was confined in the idle house of the big prison, because of lack of work for prisoners. Warden Jones does not know whether Brennan made his escape over the wall, through an open gate or whether he is hiding out.

Admits Thefts.
Cincinnati, O., Oct. 6.—"I stole money for my sick wife and child. Then I thought I'd steal some more and try to get even. Instead I lost that, too, and then—well, here I am." Philip Winstel thus told of the tragedy of his life through the bars of Central station, where he was held, a self-confessed gambler and defaulter, a whilower and the father of a motherless child—at 23.

Everyone Wants to Vote.
Columbus, O., Oct. 6.—The first day of registration in Columbus exceeded all expectations and also all records. The total registrations came near the 20,000 mark, almost three times as many as on the first registration day a year ago.

Methodists Report Losses.
Toronto, Oct. 6.—The principal subject of discussion at the ecumenical Methodist conference, which delegates from all quarters of the world are attending, was the decrease in membership of the church, which, it was revealed in the reports submitted, has occurred the world over during the last decade.

Too Busy
To Resign
His Office

Chicago, Oct. 6.—Failure of conflicting interests in the Chicago & Milwaukee electric road controversy to agree on a draft of a decree in the United States circuit court delayed the resignation of Judge Peter C. Grosscup. Delay was granted until tomorrow, after which time Judge Grosscup said he would not withhold his resignation.

Council Meets

The special session of council Thursday night developed little or no hitch, and some genuine business was conducted in a business like manner that is of more than ordinary interest to those whom council represents—the citizens of Washington.

The most important action taken was the passing of ordinances to provide funds for completing the Market street sewer, and making it compulsory for every property owner to number his house or houses under a plan known as the Philadelphia block system, and steps will be taken to have every house properly numbered.

President Millikan being absent, Vice-President Rothrock was in the chair. Member Goodwin was absent, but arrived later in the meeting. Business was opened by Chairman Rothrock stating that if the ordinances the Finance committee had ordered prepared were ready, they would take the ordinances up. The proposition made by the Y. M. C. A. committee to pay $350 for a tap if the sewer was extended to a point opposite the building was mentioned, and Chairman Rothrock stated that he believed this really should have been given to the Service Director, but it was decided that council would act upon it. It was stated that the Service Director should have been present.

Mention was made that the amount would go a great way toward completing the sewer, as the cost was running about $1 per foot. Hopkins doubted if the cost had been held down to $1 per foot, and also stated that he thought the Y. M. C. A. committee had agreed to finish the sewer after the amount appropriated had been used up, but was informed by the chair that no definite agreement had been made. Hopkins still protested that the sewer was too expensive.

The proposition was to pass an ordinance for the issuance of $2500 in bonds to pay back the $2,000 borrowed on short loan and which was paid from the Service fund, and the additional $500 for completing the sewer.

Chairman Rothrock explained this at length, stating that the Service fund amounted to $2980 at the beginning of the month, and that $2000 had been paid, leaving only $980 to pay the water rent and street lighting, and that it was absolutely necessary that the ordinance be passed or the two accounts be left unpaid until after the first of next year.

The solicitor was asked to explain the ordinance, and did so at considerable length, stating that after the bond issue ordinance was passed, it would be some sixty days before the money would be available, unless certificates of indebtedness were issued. In that event the money would be available this week.

The ordinance was placed upon its first reading, Goodwin, who had been summoned, voting no, all others voting yes. Before it was placed upon its passage, Hopkins again entered a protest, and was testily asked if he would hold up proceedings when $1400 had been sunk in the ditch and it was not in a position to be of service. Rothrock then pointed out that when council first took action upon the sewer, the estimated cost was $1100, but conditions arose which made the cost much greater, and that since it had been completed to the point where work was suspended, he wanted to see it finished. After considerable discussion, the ordinance was passed, Goodwin being the only one who voted no. The Market street sewer, it would seem, can now be finished without delay.

An ordinance was submitted to begin condemnation proceedings for the extension of Chestnut street from Main to Fayette, on the north side of the new Baker addition. Veail asked who authorized the condemnation proceedings, and was told that he was one of those instrumental in it. The question was then discussed pro and con, and the ordinance tabled until the next regular meeting. An amicable settlement will again be sought.

The Mayor's report for the third quarter was read and accepted. It shows that during the third quarter licenses and fines totaled, $206.00, were collected.

Attorney W. B. Rogers, representing Postmaster Culhan and others, then appeared before council, and after a few explanatory remarks, offered an ordinance to number all houses in the city in a systematic manner, using what is known as the Philadelphia block system. This system is approved by the postoffice department.

Mr. Rogers spoke of the deplorable manner in which the city was numbered and streets unposted, and asked that the ordinance be passed so that some system might be maintained. The ordinance was then placed upon its various readings and passed by a unanimous vote. It calls for a systematic numbering of all houses, using Columbus avenue, Court street and Leesburg avenue as a north and south basis, and Main street as an east and west basis.

A plat will be made, and every one notified just what their number is, and if they do not place the number on their houses within sixty days, a fine of from one to five dollars can be assessed. An ordinance passed in 1888 was repealed. This is something the city has long needed, as the present numbers are very confusing.

Solicitor Rankin presented an ordinance calling for the issuance of $1500 in bonds for constructing the city's proportion and street intersections on the newly improved streets. This was passed under suspension of the rules.

He then read an opinion from the attorney general in which it was held that the action of allowing changes to be made in the East Temple street improvement after the plans and specifications had been made and contract let, was illegal. Rothrock stated that no trouble was anticipated on this score, as all of the property owners, he believed, had agreed to the change made, which saved a number of shade trees throwing the curb and sidewalks together, instead of a grass plot between them.

An ordinance to establish grade on South Main street was read. Some objection was raised to the manner in which the grade had been established. This was laid on the table until later, when the committee appointed to look after it will make report.

Another ordinance to fix the grade on Clinton avenue, was also tabled until later. Adjournment was then taken.

Standard Oil Co.'s Horse Falls Dead

Thursday afternoon while Willie Ford was driving one of the Standard Oil Company's steamers attached to an oil wagon on Hinde street, opposite the Empire theater, the horse dropped dead in the harness, not making a move after it fell.

Young Ford was badly frightened, but no one was to blame, as the animal simply had an attack of heart trouble and fell dead with no apparent cause. The M. Hamm Fertilizer Company was notified and dispatched a wagon which removed the animal. It was valued at $200, and will necessitate the purchase of another by John D.

5c TONIGHT 5c

SOME PATRON OF THE COLONIAL WILL BE PRESENTD WITH A PNEUMATIC SWEEPER TONIGHT.

The SELIG Company present an intensely interesting picture of the Far North entitled

“Lost In The Arctic.”

This picture was made in Labrador, and shows so much of Eskimo customs and also so vividly pictures the experiences of exploring parties on the ice fields—these things make it one of the best, if not the best picture shown in The Colonial this week. The photographs must have been taken under great difficulties. One scene shows the death of a polar bear. It's an excellent film. On the same reel with the above—NOTED MEN: Champ Clark's smile will please the audience; Uncle Joe Cannon, Senator Bailey and his friend vice-President James Sherman, are shown together.

The VITAGRAPH Company in a Western Epic
Under the Title

“The Sheriff's Friend.”

Faithful to his official obligations the sheriff performs his duty first and then considers friendship.
A rugged picture of life on the border among the cowboys and the wild life of the ranges.

WILL GO AGAIN.

Ryan Kellogg Watson, well known in this city and throughout the county, is preparing to attend the Fairfield county fair at Lancaster next week. He first attended that fair just sixty years ago when the first one was held, at that time he was a lad of 11 years and rode to Lancaster with his father and brothers, making the trip on horse-back.

During the intervening years from sixty years ago until the present time, Mr. Watson has missed few of the fairs, and of late years the Board has been sending him a complimentary ticket each year, with the request for him to be sure and meet with them again.

Mr. Watson is now nearing his 71st year, and has been in this country since 1877, making his home for the most part near Bloomingburg. He is the youngest of a family of fourteen children, consisting of seven boys and seven girls.

His father, Joseph C. Watson, of Scotch-Irish blood, came to this country from County Down, Ireland, in 1800. On his way over to America the vessel he was on was captured by pirates, but he made his escape from the hands of these blood thirsty rascals and arrived here in safety. He fought in the war of 1812, and in 1814 settled down upon a farm near Buckeye Lake, where one son, William H., still lives on the old home place of 300 acres, and where R. K. visited a few weeks ago.

Mr. Watson's father and mother were present when the Governor of Ohio lifted the first shovel-full of dirt from the Hocking canal at Millersport.

BY AUTO TO OKLAHOMA.

C. A. Gossard, George Hyer and Richard Ramsey, three sun-burned and weather-beaten motorists got in Thursday night from a two weeks' motoring trip that they'll never forget.

They started out with a big banner “From Washington C. H., O., to Oklahoma City” and to Oklahoma City they went, but it is safe to say that their next trip will be chosen over different roads from the trails and sand hills which lay between our city and their goal.

They were out fourteen days and out of the fourteen it rained thirteen.

The first part of the trip through Dayton, Indianapolis and Terre Haute, Ind., the roads were pretty good. Then they struck out for St. Louis, Mo., Emporia, Kan., Wichita, Kansas, Guthrie and Oklahoma City. The cities were all right, but Oh ye highways!

From Terre Haute clear through there was nothing but a trail through the wilds, lonesome to the last degree with hardly a house or telephone pole by the roadway.

Mr. Gossard said, “Prologue” is a boulevard compared with the roads out there.”

Going through Illinois in what is called the “American bottoms, they struck what is designated by the initiated as “Hell's Hole”—a mile of black muck and creek sand, that has sucked down many a victim. Our three tourists wouldn't have tackled it had they been warned, but when in it they never stopped going. That was all that saved them. If they had ever stopped it would have been “all off”.

The Missouri river was crossed at Glasgow on a little ferry, run by a gasoline engine. The next run through the Missouri river bottoms is another episode that will be long remembered. Kodak pictures were taken all along the trip and these pictures give an idea of the difficulties of their run. One picture shows a mile of water, hiding the track of the trail, and opening into a sea of black mud, into which the machine sank to the running boards. They couldn't make four miles an hour in these bottoms and worked like day laborers.

Prying the car out when it stuck, as it did a number of times. Only once did they have to be pulled out by outside help.

From St. Louis to Kansas City they followed the Sante Fe trail, taken by the 49ers. They didn't meet any Indians and found some hotels, but not one of the three could be convinced that there had been any improvement in the condition of the trail since the days of the gold seekers.

They went over sand hills 4 to 10 inches deep, places that dropped right down without any warning, almost throwing the occupants out of the car.

One of the tourists doesn't hesitate to say, “It's a d— poor country.”

But for all that at times they couldn't make but four miles an hour and then with four chains on, they had a rattling good time, and drove their Buick Model 27 into the Buick headquarters at Oklahoma City without a puncture. In all the trip they only had tire trouble once.

One of the most interesting places they struck enroute was the 101 Ranch on the border between Kansas and Oklahoma, a very large ranch, on which grazed a herd of buffalo.

All along the way people read their big banner and wanted to know what the “C. H.” meant.

Richard Ramsey and George Hyer remained in Oklahoma City for an indefinite stay. Mr. Gossard making the return trip alone.

Order by flavor—not by price

Here at last is coffee put up in the only logical way! Five different Blends—five distinct flavors so that you can order exactly the flavor that suits you. Coffee is a matter of Taste not Price. Why—our lowest priced Blend is exactly the flavor that thousands of people prefer to coffee for which they pay from 10 to 20 cents a pound more.

We are the oldest and largest house of coffee experts in the world. Our unlimited experience with coffee and coffee-drinkers has taught us that there are Five Great Coffee Tastes—five different Blends that meet the wants of all coffee drinkers. We have therefore put up these five distinct Blends—our Karex, Navarre, Briardale, Vienna, and Mocha & Java—under the one family name of Golden Sun Coffee. Each Blend is always uniform in goodness, put up—the Whole Bean in packages, the Steel Cut in cans—sealed at the right moment after roasting, to preserve for your table all the luscious oil which is the life—the flavor, the aroma of the coffee berry.

This coffee goodness escapes from coffee kept in open bins or sold by peddlers. Such coffee is stale, pulpy—dusty and you get much less of coffee goodness than you pay for—no matter what price is asked.

Your Grocer will tell you—if he is experienced and conscientious—that we have set forth a great coffee truth. He will show you the Golden Sun Table of Tastes so that you can choose from five different blends, the flavor you like above all others. See him today.

BEGGARS ASK MILLIONS OF RICH WOMEN

Appalled by a flood of begging letters, that number scores a day, and unwilling to take the risk of refusing aid to the really needy, Mrs. E. H. Harriman, the widow and sole heir of the railroad wizard, has appealed to the bureau of municipal research to take charge of that part of her mail and help her dispense charity in a wise manner.

According to officers of the Associated charities, the general public has no idea of the number of letters that daily fill the mails of millionaires and rich and charitable women.

It is estimated that fully half a million begging letters are received every year by the millionaire men and women of New York.

In one year, Mrs. Harriman has received requests for money, which aggregate $110,000,000—a sum more than half again as large as the vast fortune left her by her husband.

"Thousands of letters received by the wealthy are turned over to us every year," said Mrs. Helene Ingraham, the head of the relief department of the Society for the Improvement of the Condition of the Poor. "We, of course, receive only those written by persons who say they are in actual want or who can be placed in independent circumstances by the receipt of a small sum of money at once."

"We investigate practically all of them and it is a surprising fact that about one in ten are actually worthy of consideration. The other nine are not necessarily frauds, but they ask impossible things in many cases."

Mrs. Russell Sage, Miss Helen Gould, Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Mrs. Weighman Walker, Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan and several other women, who are famously wealthy are the daily recipients of hundreds of letters.

Mrs. Harriman, when she first became mistress of the Harriman millions, left orders with her secretary that all "begging letters" were to be turned over to her for her personal perusal and action. She said she wanted to get at the "psychology" of it all.

In a few months she discovered that all of her time and more too, would be given up to this one thing, if she attempted to carry out her original plan. She had some interest in discovering which were written by professional beggars, which were written from socialistic motives and which were actually written in the desperation of want. Now she has appealed to the research bureau to determine these points.

A woman so catholic in her charities as Miss Helen Gould would naturally lead all other as a shining mark for begging letters. In one year, alone, she received nearly fifty thousand. She brought the handling of her correspondence to as nearly a perfect

Her secretary opens all of her mail. The letters that begin "My dear Mr. Morgan" or "My dear Mr. Carnegie," are torn up without being read. Miss Gould reasons that any person who cannot get begging letters into the proper envelopes cannot be in dire straits.

Requests for a million dollars, or a home for indigent casuaries, are marked, "Not worthy of consideration." Some are marked to be answered with an engraved form of refusal: "Miss Gould feels that she cannot respond to your request at this time, etc."

These have a not infrequent sequel in another letter, a year or two later, in which the writer says he is sure that "by this time Miss Gould is quite willing to fulfill the promise made in the enclosed letter."

Letters requesting indiscriminate charity are usually answered by a stenographer unless there is some appeal of unusual merit. In that case, the secretary briefly notes it on the envelope and turns it over to Miss Gould. All the mail from the officers of the many organized charities, to which she gives liberally, receive Miss Gould's personal attention.

She receives—as do all rich women—many letters from cranks, some having so strong a flavor of blackmail that they are turned over to the police.

She has probably received more wedding rings and offers of marriage than any woman in the world. These rings are always carefully returned by registered mail. Gifts with strings attached are returned in the same way, but genuine gifts of appreciation are gratefully accepted and acknowledged.

Miss Gould's experiences and her system of dealing with them can be taken as a fair example of the burden placed upon all the very wealthy women of New York.

Mrs. Russell Sage's life, for a few days after she came into the possession of her husband's fortune, was practically that of a prisoner. Not only was her mail full of begging letters, but seekers after charity waited outside her home and annoyed her every time they could get close enough.

A New York newspaper printed an interview with a member of her family in which it was stated that she would give away ten millions immediately after she came into possession of her property. Mrs. Sage fled to her Long Island home and the beggars of all walks of life, from college presidents to the man who needed a hundred dollars to pay the interest on a mortgage followed her in train loads. She was a prisoner in her own home until the newspapers could correct the statement.

The variety and the amount of these requests are almost unbelievable. One week of Miss Gould's mail totalled more than $2,000,000 in demands on her purse. Of these items, the largest was for $1,000,000 to found a colony in Cuba. The Anti-Saloon League of Idaho needed $5,000. Four girls needed trousseaus to the aggregate sum of $2,000. One man wanted to put a $500 monument to his mother, and another wanted a $75 passage to England. Three homes needed pianos and one man wanted $5 to get his watch out of a pawnshop.

GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and Your Gray Hair Will Quickly Vanish.

Gray hair is a mark of age, and nothing that can be said as to its beauty will offset the disadvantages of this mark of age set upon your brow.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy darkens the hair and restores it to its youthful beauty. Our grandmothers and their grandmothers before them used sage and sulphur for darkening their hair. Nothing has ever been found more effective for this purpose than these two time-honored remedies, but Wyeth, a modern chemist, has combined the two with other ingredients, which makes a delightful dressing for the hair, and which not only removes every trace of dandruff but promotes the growth of the hair. It also stops the hair from falling out, and makes it beautiful.

All druggists are authorized to refund the money if it fails to do exactly as represented.

Don't neglect your hair and don't resort to old-time hair dyes. Get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist today, and notice the difference in your hair after a few days' use.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Brown's Drug store.
